

Synopsis:

In a vibrant Diwali collage, a potter molds diyas, rows of these freshly crafted diyas and pots, just soaking up the sunlight. It's like watching a piece of Diwali being created

Nearby, a lively market unfolds, women and children selling colorful diyas amidst laughter. A customer carefully selects diyas, turning a transaction into a celebration. At home, the diyas cast a warm glow, symbolizing the triumph of light.

The whole picture is about Diwali's fun making things, selling them, and enjoying the light at home. It's like a happy story of how Diwali brings everyone together.
